Yorktown Systems Group Awarded Prime Contract To Provide Analysis for Tactical Engagement Simulation (TES) Training Systems Requirements

Yorktown Systems Group Inc., a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business, was awarded a contract to provide ATSC analysis to articulate and validate Tactical Engagement Simulation (TES) Training System requirements to enable the development of comprehensive, configurable, and manageable approaches that span the ranges of broad requirements to specific requirements in today's very dynamic world environment. This comprehensive analysis, development, documentation, integration, coordination, and management of live training requirements within the Army and DOD enable the timely fielding of cost effective training capabilities that are fully interoperable within specified architectures and in compliance with the DOD T2 Strategy, the Joint Capabilities Integration Development Systems (JCIDS), and DOD Architectural Framework (DODAF). We define the TES training system requirements, provide thorough analysis, and identify the critical documentation that is required to initiate the formal development processes for TES that will provide synergy and focus for the material developer to support the live field training of the current and future force in an immersive environment.
